Thank you Hawaii Business Magazine for this nomination and recognition! The strength of the luxury Oahu market continues to surprise us all. As we near Q3 of 2024, it remains a seller's market on Oahu with extremely low inventory of high-quality single-family homes and luxury condos which makes for an opportune time for homeowners seeking to take advantage of a strong market. For buyers, finding off market private offerings or embarking on remodeling or new build projects to secure quality inventory is often the best option.

As these coveted islands and Honolulu become even more sought after as a place of refuge and reprieve, having strategic property criteria and a strong vision for your future home has become especially important for us to execute a successful luxury home search. The past year has taught me that a technology-forward approach combined with a lifetime of local expertise and valuable island-wide connections remain the most powerful means of helping my clientele secure the most successful buying and selling results. As a team, amongst my Hawai'i Life network, we represented the buyer of the highest-priced residential sale on Oahu ever - an off-market gem of course! Feel free to contact me to discuss your Real Estate needs or to work with our team to find your dream home!
